Detailed Report:

“Careers In Economics: Exploring Opportunities and Insights”

The seminar on "Careers in Economics: Exploring Opportunities and Insights" offered Economics Honours students an invaluable chance to navigate their future paths. Throughout the event, engaging talks, panels, and interactive sessions were led by Dr. Shruti Jain and her team, shedding light on various career options within economics. Keynote speakers generously shared their personal insights, aiding students in understanding the dynamic landscape of economics careers. Insightful discussions ensued about transitioning between academia, industry, and government roles, alongside learning about the essential skills and qualifications needed to excel in each sector.

The interactive sessions served as a platform for attendees to pose questions, seek guidance, and network with professionals. Overall, the seminar left participants feeling informed, inspired, and empowered to make confident decisions regarding their career paths in economics. Looking ahead, they express hope for more such events, featuring even more interactive activities and opportunities for practical experience such as internships and mentorship programs. Gratitude is extended to all speakers, organisers, and fellow participants for contributing to the success of this seminar.

1. Detailed Report: KaCES Event Report on “Opening Ceremony”.

KaCES orchestrated a charismatic Freshers' Event on 4th October 2023 in the Sangam Parisar, Kalindi College, University of Delhi, setting the stage for an engaging academic year. The event began with an insightful introduction to KaCES, and 'Econopress,' the society's intellectual forum, added depth to the students' understanding of economic discourse. The event, themed as Retro Bollywood, kicked off with an exciting flash mob that got everyone really pumped up. Then, we had some amazing singers who lit up the stage and really impressed the audience with their talent. After that, we had a fun Bollywood-style Hookup-dance challenge that got everyone energized and excited. Overall, the event had a lot of filler performances that were really enjoyable and brought a lot of energy and excitement to the crowd. It was a great way to carry the event forward and get everyone involved in having a good time. Additionally, refreshments were generously provided to all students of the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd years, adding to the joyous ambiance and ensuring that everyone had a delightful experience. Towards the end, the DJ's beats elevated the ambiance, ending the evening with lively beats, making it a great start for the freshmen.

4. Detailed Report :-

The Editorial Board of the Department of Economics organised a screening of the acclaimed movie "Ship of Theseus" on 28th October 2023. The event aimed to explore philosophical and ethical dimensions portrayed in the movie.

The screening commenced at 11:30 am with an attentive audience of 42 students. "Ship of Theseus," directed by Anand Gandhi, is renowned for its profound exploration of identity, morality, and existentialism. The narrative intertwines three disparate stories, each grappling with profound questions about individuality and societal responsibility. Refreshments were also provided to all students.

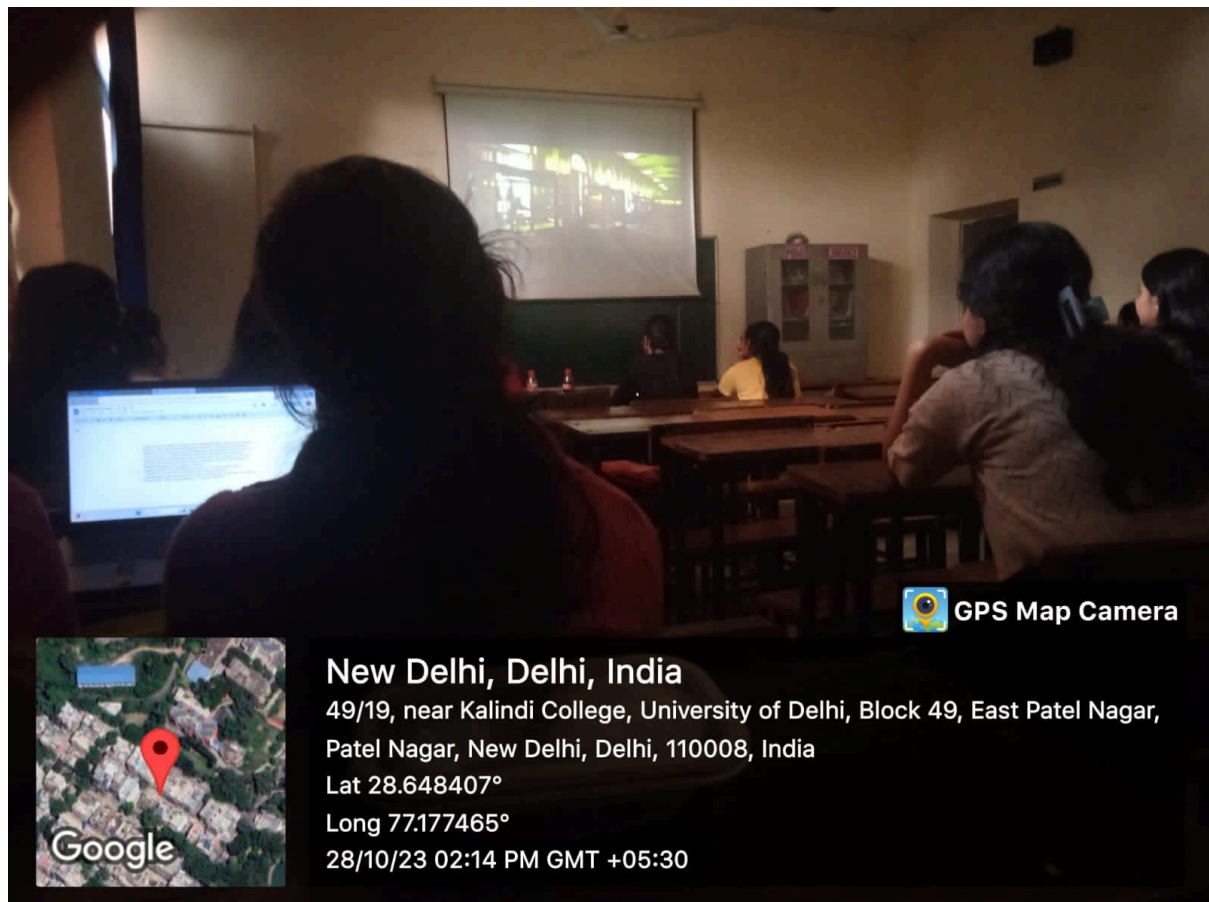

Following the screening, a vibrant discussion ensued among the attendees. Students shared their interpretations of the film, delving into its implications on social structures and personal ethics. Students also attempted to interlink the movie with economic concepts. The exchange of perspectives facilitated a deeper understanding of complex issues embedded within the movie's narrative.

The event concluded with the words of Ms. Phunchok Dolkar, the convener of the Editorial Board. Ms. Dolkar expressed gratitude to the attendees for their active participation and insightful contributions to the discussion. She emphasised the importance of engaging with diverse forms of art and media to broaden one's perspective.

The screening of "Ship of Theseus" facilitated a thought-provoking dialogue on the intersections of philosophy and morality. Through cinematic exploration, students gained valuable insights into the complexities of human behaviour and societal dynamics. The event underscored the Department of Economics' commitment to fostering interdisciplinary learning and critical thinking among its students.

4. Detailed Report- KaCES EVENT “The MBA Labyrinth: Exploring Career Dynamics in the New Economy”

On 11th of December 2023, Prof Rahul K. Mishra conducted an informative session at 12.30 pm in the seminar room of Kalindi College. He conducted a session with economics honors students the scope for masters in business administration and the key points they should keep in mind while embracing their journeys in business school. The session aimed to provide prospective students with a comprehensive understanding of what to expect from an MBA program and how it can contribute to their personal and professional growth.

The big question- “Is MBA worth pursuing after my graduation?” was addressed. Prof. Rahul K. Mishra who has an experience of 25 years in teaching, training and academic administration shared his insights about the preparation for CAT, how to make your profile standout and the importance of networking in business schools.

He also discussed the value of obtaining an MBA degree in terms of career advancement, salary potential, networking opportunities, and skill development. To end the hour long session, the speaker addressed some queries and doubts of the attendees and ended the session by emphasizing about the importance of developing marketable skills and building a unique profile. It was a very enlightening session, where students learned about the management and finance prospects for their careers.

4. Detailed Report :-

The Editorial Board of the Department of Economics hosted a 2-day virtual research cohort on 19th and 20th January 2024, attracting participation from over 70 students. The cohort was a series of three sessions. Day 1 featured a session on ‘Fundamentals of Research’ by Hamza Syed, a Ph.D. candidate at The London School of Economics, who talked about the essence of academic research drawing on his personal experiences conducting research in the field of political and development economics.

Dr Cledwyn Fernandez, a distinguished fellow at the Indian Council for Research on International Economic Relations (ICRIER), led the first session on day 2 on the topic ‘How to write a Research Paper.’ He explained about the intricacies of research paper writing and the challenges one may come across during the process. The second session on Day 2 was ‘Careers in Research and Public Policy’ by Poorva Mathur, Assistant Manager at Grant Thornton Bharat LLP. She shared her varied experiences as a public policy professional and guided students on how to carve a career for themselves in the field of research and public policy.

Following each session, a Q&A round was hosted where the speakers engaged with the intriguing questions of the attendees. The cohort provided the attendees with comprehensive insights to begin their research journey, from choosing a research topic and formulating the research question to analysing the data and presenting the research findings. E-certificates were awarded by the organising team to all attendees.

1. Report

On 7th of February, a group of 26 third year students of economics department embarked on an enriching educational journey to visit the Pradhanmantri Sangrahalaya (PM Sangrahalaya) located in Teen Murti Marg. Accompanied with them were 2 teachers of economics department; Dr. Richa Gupta and Ms. Phunchok Dolkar. The aim of this visit was to provide students with a deeper understanding of India's political history, cultural heritage, and the significance of the Prime Minister's residence.

The teachers and students met outside the museum at 11 am, and made sure all students entered together as all tickets to the museum were prebooked. After entering the museum, the students dispersed and went on to explore the museum and were instructed to meet towards the end of the museum by 2 pm. The visit was divided into 2 buildings- Teen Murti Bhavan, which was formerly home to the first Prime Minister of India Jawaharlal Nehru and the new building also known as 'House of Democracy' dedicated to all the Prime Ministers of India since Independence.

Teen Murti Bhavan stands as a significant cultural and historical landmark in Delhi, offering a glimpse into the life and times of one of India's founding fathers. The museum within Teen Murti Bhavan is dedicated to Jawaharlal Nehru and houses a rich collection of personal belongings, photographs, and documents associated with him. Students explored the various galleries that indulge in the chronicles of Nehru's life, his role in India's independence movement, and his tenure as the first Prime Minister. Students also marvelled at Toshakhana section, showcasing the diverse array of gifts received by the Indian Presidents and Prime Ministers from across the globe, providing a fascinating glimpse into diplomatic exchanges and international relations.

PM Sangrahalaya, also known as the 'House of Democracy' is a treasure box of historical artifacts, exhibits, and memorabilia that provide visitors with a comprehensive insight into India's political and economic landscape throughout tenures of all the Prime Ministers. The museum contains personal memorabilia belonging of all the Prime Ministers of India, letters, and items of historical significance in order to gain deeper understanding. It lays out an immersive experience for students to understand the various policies and actions adopted by the prominent leaders. The museum also incorporates modern technology to enhance the experience. Digital archives, multimedia displays, and interactive installations bring history to life, providing a dynamic and engaging way for visitors to learn about India's political journey. Students were able to visualise what they had learned in their course subject of Indian Economics in real life.

After the comprehensive and immersive experience of the museum, students and teachers took photographs together in the lush and beautiful gardens of the museum to remember the memorable day. This educational outing to PM Sangrahalaya successfully combined academic learning with experiential exploration, leaving a lasting impact on the participating students. It not only enhanced their knowledge of India's political history, but the students were left with a deeper appreciation for the democratic values that shape the country and a greater understanding of the role of the Prime Minister in governing the nation.

4) Detailed Report – KaCES Event “Climate Change and Growth in Indian States”

On 30th April 2024, Dr. Dibyendu Maiti conducted an informative session at 11:30 AM in the Seminar Room of Kalindi College. Dr. Dibyendu Maiti is a professor at the prestigious Delhi School of Economics, and holds specialization in International Economics and Development Economics. The lecture commenced with inviting all the faculty members of Economics Department and Dr. Dibyendu for lamp lighting and a token of gratitude was presented to Sir. During the session he explained the broad aspects of his research “Structural Change and Economics Dynamic” where he enlightened students about the impact of climate change on the economic growth of countries with respect to Total Factor Productivity Analysis.

He concluded his lecture with the fact that emerging market economies cannot sustain growth by ignoring mitigation strategies and that the effect of climate change is much more prevalent in developing countries than developed.

Towards the end of the session, Dr. Dibyendu Maiti addressed some questions and remarks of the students in detail. Overall, it was a very enlightening lecture for the Economics Honors students sitting in the audience.

KaCES EVENT “How to Prepare for Civil Services Exam”

A recent seminar hosted by Next IAS catered to the aspirations of college students aiming to excel in the IAS exam. The event featured seasoned experts such as Mr. Vaibhav Anand Sharma, who secured rank 58 in CSE 2023, and Mr. Ajay Singh Ahlawat, Assistant Faculty at Next IAS. Ajay Sir offered insights into exam preparation strategies, covering the syllabus comprehensively, managing time effectively, and employing efficient study techniques. While Vaibhav Sir offered invaluable personal advice and views about his preparation techniques and the challenges he faced while preparing for the civil services exam. Attendees actively participated in interactive sessions, fostering a supportive community where they could seek personalized advice and share aspirations. The seminar not only imparted practical knowledge but also infused participants with motivation to pursue their civil services goals with determination. Moving forward, it is recommended to continue such initiatives, possibly incorporating workshops and mock tests to provide hands-on learning experiences and further enhance preparation. Such endeavors are crucial in empowering the next generation of leaders and contributing to nation-building efforts through civil services.

KaCES Event Report on “MODEL IMF”

On 2nd may 2024, KaCES organized Arthasaar'24 and Model IMF was one of the main events. This event was conducted in 2 rounds: one was screening round and other was Model IMF. For the first round 93 participants registered. First round included taking view of delegates through quiz on unstop and the shortlisted delegates were assigned countries and called for offline model IMF. There was total 9 participants including 2 from Kalindi college and other 7 from different colleges and universities like Jagan Institute of Management Studies (GGSIPU), Ramjas college (DU), Hansraj college (DU), Netaji Subash University of Technology, Gargi college (DU) and Shri Ram College of Commerce (DU).

The session began with Deputy Chief Editor telling the guidelines followed up by General Speakers' List (GSL) of countries. After which moderate caucus 1 was conducted on the topic of “Sustainability through innovation technology and knowledge sharing”. Each country was given 90 seconds to speak. On completion of that a break of 30 minutes was observed.

The session resumed for moderate caucus 2 on the topic of “Facilitating trade for climate financing” and the third moderate caucus was observed on the topic of “Curbing climate crisis in conflicted areas”. After which a motion for unmoderated caucus was passed. In the last, the final resolution of the committee was decided. The session ended with international press asking questioning the delegates and press release.

The event was about 4 hours long. The winners were awarded with cash prizes and certificates. This event was a new and enriching experience for all the delegates as well as for the audience.

The IMF Model event provided a dynamic platform for students to delve into the complexities of global economics, fostering teamwork, analytical thinking, and practical decision-making skills. The winners for the competition included, Samarth Bhardwaj winning the Best Delegate, Anushka Singh bagging the High Commendation and V Praveenaa getting a Special Mention.

4. Detailed Report :- Kaces Event report on “ Borderless Bargains “

On May 2nd, 2024, KACES organised A₹thasaar'24 and Borderless Bargains was one of the main events. Borderless Bargains, an international trade quest competition held at Kalindi College, attracted participants from diverse backgrounds and disciplines.

Round 2, the Trade Game, immersed participants in hands-on international trade simulations. Teams representing different income-level countries (i.e. 2 rich countries, 1 middle income and 2 low income countries) engaged in a dynamic marketplace to maximise wealth. The teams that qualified to round 2 picked chits to decide their initial endowments. The round lasted for 50 minutes and announcements were made during the last 15, 10 and 5 minutes as the round was time sensitive. The teams had to make all the shapes and bargain with other teams within a specified period of time.

As the round came to an end, the team's enthusiasm increased and as the result was being prepared, all the participants were given refreshments and they interacted amongst themselves. The winning team were 2 low income countries- Team Buzz and Team HT and they were given certificates by Dr. Indu Chaudhary and Dr. Punam Tyagi.

4) Detailed Report: KaCES Event Report on “Economic Feud”.

On 2nd May 2024, KaCES organized “Economic Feud” under “ARTHASAAR’24” in the Conference Room of Kalindi College, University of Delhi. The competition was divided into 3 rounds. The first round was held on unstop on 30th April, 2024 and was the qualifying round for the subsequent rounds. It was an online quiz consisting of 20 questions based on economic concepts. 16 teams attempted the Quiz and out of those 7 teams were shortlisted for the offline round. Round 2 was EconoBuzz, in which two teams were randomly chosen and were made to compete against each other. Each pair of competing teams were presented with a series of 10 short video clips. The objective was to guess the economic concept, theory, or topic being discussed in each video clip. The team who scored the highest marks in the Quiz round was directly promoted to the 3rd Round, the rest 6 qualifying teams participated in EconoBuzz and challenged their ability to think and respond spontaneously. Following EconoBuzz, the 4 top-point scorers ventured into the realm of Intentional Error where they had to identify and correct deliberate inconsistencies within the economics-related statements provided to them. 1st position was backed by Team A (Aanya Singhal and Saanvi Arora). Team B (Anurag Kumar and Nimish Sehgal) secured the 2nd position. Winners were given a Certificate and Cash prize.

KaCES Event Report on "Quant Quest"

On 2nd May 2024, one of the competitions organized by KaCES in the annual flagship fest Arthasaar'24 was "Quant Quest"- a data driven policy making competition. The competition was held in two rounds: an online quiz and offline round. The online quiz was done as a screening to select the worthiest participants, and was conducted on the 30th April 2024. Participants had to answer questions relating to world economy, basics of economics, economic systems, fiscal/ monetary policies etc. On the basis of their scores, teams were shortlisted for subsequent round. A total of 5 teams (11 participants) were shortlisted. Final Participants Received from Colleges: Shri Ram College of Commerce (SRCC), Satyawati College, Lakshmibai College (LC), Shyama Prasad Mukherjee College (SPMC), Gargi College. The offline part of the competition was held in the Conference Room, TRI Block, Kalindi College, on 2nd May, from 1pm onwards. The participants were provided with a welcome note and the general outline of the how the competition will be conducted. In the first round, the participants were allotted datasets in a randomised manner. They were given 50 minutes to perform analysis on their data using Microsoft Excel features to identify the problems and formulate policies to combat them. The second round comprised presenting the policies. The judging criteria included quality of their analysis, the rigor of their economic models, the creativity and feasibility of policy proposals, and the effectiveness of presentation skills etc. Each team was given with 8 minutes to present their policy and answer questions presented by the judge Ms Madhuri Singh. Final scores were calculated after the presentation by all teams. First position was given to Harshita Adhikari and Ananya from Satyawati college while second position was given to Rashmi from Gargi College. At the end of the day, the event was a great success as all teams actively participated and enjoyed the competition. Winners were given certificates and cash prizes.
